Opposition to Federal Control After the War is Expected—Text of the President's Address.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(By A. P. Night Wire.)—Legislation to regulate the government's operation of railroads and to guarantee the carriers' compensation on the basis of their average operating income for the three years was asked of Congress today by President Wilson in an address to both houses in joint session.

While the President's address met with general approval among Democrats and Republicans alike, opposition is expected to develop over the Federal control bill.

Stripped of Her Clothing by the Yaquis Who Massacred Railway Travelers, She Escaped to a Hospital.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(By A. P. Night Wire.)—A report by the American Consul at Nogales, to the State Department on the massacre Wednesday of passengers on a Southern Pacific train by Yaqui Indians in Mexico adds to the news dispatches the information that an American woman was one of the victims.

The report says the Yaquis placed a woman in the train, who was stripped of her clothing, but escaped and is now in a hospital at Empalme, a suburb of Guaymas.

Information reaching the consul is that 800 Yaquis were in the attacking party. It appears that of the eighty passengers on the train only seven escaped unharmed.

Carrying the military escort passed safely, but the passenger coaches were derailed. The Indians entered the coaches, killing the passengers in their seats. Five, placed beneath the cars, failed to burn them.

The engine was cut loose and run to Lencho station, where Mexican troops were loaded and carried back to the wreck and drove the Indians away.

Funeral Here Today for Los Angeles Volunteer.

Pallbearers to be Friends from Camp Kearny.

Father Believes Death Could Have been Averted.

The body of Corp. Henry I. Schwannecke, a volunteer in Co. H, Twenty-third United States Engineers, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwannecke, No. 1220 West Fifth street, reached here yesterday from Camp Meade, Maryland, where he died of spinal meningitis. Funeral services will be conducted at the family home at 2 o'clock p.m., today. Burial in Inglewood Cemetery will follow. Sixty soldier friends from Camp Kearny will act as pallbearers. This will be the first burial of a Los Angeles soldier in his native city in the present war.

The grief-stricken father believes that the death might have been avoided had conditions in the camp been better.

Corp. Harry I. Schwannecke

A black and white portrait of a young man, identified as Corp. Harry I. Schwannecke. He is shown from the chest up, wearing a military uniform with a high collar and a tie. He has dark hair and is looking slightly to the right of the camera with a neutral expression. The background is dark and out of focus.

some snowflakes is settled. "I am not to be kindly suit" was more or less the letter from the County Council, and the friction between the District Attorney and the County has been for a long time, and of his office when- ever it was needed. "I was called by the District Attorney to the duties designated as falling upon me as falling upon the District Attorney's of- fice. It is asserted by the County Council that I was taken precedence."

hospital. Attached is a statement she gives on the intention of her husband
to kill her. The
of her husband
is believed to protest strongly to the authorities against these conditions. He cites the justice of his position and is throwing some light upon matters which are now under investigation by the Senate Committee on Military Affairs.

"We never had any information advising us of the fact that the boy had been, or was sick," said the commander of the hospital, "but on December 29, we received a telegram from the commander of his company to inform us that he was sick. The next morning from sickness, but giving us no details of the same."

From Camp Meade, under date of December 19, Corp. Schwanneke wrote: "It's some cold here. Just not so hot as it was here in the States hour ago. We were out drilling for while before. And one of the fellows got sick. He was taken out outside the hospital waiting to get in, and the colonel came along and asked where our eyes were. We haven't any, nor any heavy underwear. So he told us to get in and get out of the hospital. And we were outfitted. Guess we'll get in this afternoon."

"The rain here," he wrote yesterday in order to get anything to burn. They got out of the hospital and after war.
Wasn't very much damage done but both companies got a four-mile hike and the soldiers were told to burn the paper that the coal shortage was due to waste in the army camps.
The soldiers were told to burn
the paper that the coal shortage was
due to waste in the army camps.
Otherwise everything is all right."

The next day the young soldier wrote in cheerful vein, telling of having moved into larger barracks, of his liking for his officers, of his being a good soldier and of his plans for further advancement and of preferring to remain in camp over

Christmas, to securing leave of absence.

On December 22, the day before he was stricken, the young soldier wrote humorously of his experiences with "Kitchen Police" (dishwashing etc.) in which he said that he told the soldiers at last they had to wash their dishes in very dirty water. He also wrote of his circum-venient this, describing the latter as his first lesson in "Military Discipline." He also wrote of the camp he says here: "If you could only be here and see the way this military life is run, you would and how fast and fine it grinds, you would be awestruck. It's truly wonderful."

In this letter he writes: "Today was inspection, everything coming up, from the toes to the head.
Shoes and a half hour later were out on dress parade in six inches of mud and rain."

"There is going to be a big review this afternoon. Secretary of War Baker will be here. However, I am not able to be in it. The sale of my shoe came off and am confused about it. Am sorry for it, it's a big event and a nice, warm, sunny afternoon and a temperature of about 25 degrees above zero."

"Oh, yes, I may as well tell you, now that I am sick. For just about a week now I have been sick. I chills, sick to my stomach and malaria in general. It came about as soon as I got to the hospital. I don't know if it's something or other, but at any rate I got some Sloan's Liniment and it helped a little. I am up. These army hospitals are a joke, or rather a crime. All they do is to make you feel worse. I guess it was just the extreme change in climate and poor food that was
